"Winning is not everything, but making the effort to win is."
- Vince Lombardi

This is a special time of year for each student-athlete, coach, administrator, and college affiliated individual to celebrate his or her team's achievements. I encourage each of you to leave all of your efforts on the playing field and do this with the highest sportsmanship, effort, and college sense of pride. The hardest part of competing for a national championship is simply getting there and each of you have already conquered that challenge, so a special congratulations on that achievement.

This opportunity may only come once, so cherish these moments. Each of you are physically and mentally prepared to earn the right to call yourself a National Champion, so value and appreciate all of the acts of support that led you here. Remember to maintain your integrity and character, as this will represent a solid foundation of success for years to follow. Life will pass you by very quickly, so embellish the moments and find ways to open future doors for those who follow your footsteps.

You have worked hard and invested greatly to get to this stage, but remember what the great Michael Jordan had to say about winning championships. "Talent wins games, but teamwork and intelligence win championships." So go forward with passion and commitment to yourself and your team – the next championship is only a few games away.

Best of luck,
